Relay interview

I used this center because I heard an announcement for the One-Stop Business Establishment Center at a study session in which I participated as part of my work.

I used to work for a publishing company, but I started to feel like going out on my own without being tied to existing frameworks, and so I started my own business. Currently, I engage mainly in Corporate Public Relations to communicate the advantages of companies to the world through various PR media.

It was very helpful to be able to use the center to smoothly establish my business.

I did not know about necessary procedures for establishing a new business and no one would tell me about them. So it was very helpful.

Before I used the One-Stop Center, I had no idea about the procedures involved in being a president, although my company had already been registered.

I wanted a partner I could rely upon anytime casually. I could solve all my problems through the one-stop service. I feel that it is very convenient that a center for business establishment like this is operated by government.

My tip for You

It is important to take inventory of your skills. This is because if you are unaware of your skills, you may concern yourself with every little thing. I was once groping in the dark. However, now I realize that client needs match my skills, and I receive constant orders. It is also very important to find a role model close to you.

Now we are accepting applications for participation in the consultation experience in September!

Anyone can use this service free of charge.
